DAVIS THEATRE.

The Most Expensive and Best Vaude-meason, every act is a Keith headlin-er and there is no choice in any one of the three as to which is the best. John and Mae Burke are feature number one and they need no recommendation to the vaudeville public smaller cities. A Ragtime Soldier is the latest vehicle that they will present here, and it is a sure fire riot of laughter. Another feature is Sandy McIntosh and His Musical Maids, a Scotch act without an equal. Here is what the the reviewer in the Lowell Courier-Citize, had to say of the headline act, billed as McIntosh and Maids, when it was the attraction at the B F. Keith theatre in that city:

"Clan McIntosh will now have a hearing. One braw laddle and three bonnie lassies constitute the section of the clan on parade and if plaidles ever looked prettier than they did yesterday than we haven't seen them. McIntosh—he's the leader—is as straight as a ramrod, and when he gets at the pipes he can skert out of the content of the content of the content of the clan on parade and if plaidles ever looked prettier than they did yesterday than we haven't seen them. McIntosh—he's the leader—is as straight as a ramrod, and when he gets at the pipes he can skert out of the clan of the time. One wee lassle—the very pic-ture of lowland health—tripped a sword dance the while McIntosh played the pipes, and she wound up in breathless tempo, always skipping the blades. The three lassles drummed in a manner that summoned up the days of "wood-up," and they tucked in fancy strokes that would have put the ordinary snare-drummer to shame But the clan is versatile above all else. One of the girls, in a clear, rippling soprano sang something about life and love, and the aforementioned redheaded little vixen sang Annie Laurie in a way that tore one's heart. The ensembles were downright pretty, and ensembles were downright pretty, and capably presented, particularly the instrumental rendering of A Perfect Day. The close of the act is loud with brass, a dozen of the current melodies being strung along. Yesterday the audience insisted that the four kilted performers appear again, and they did come back and aroused be let of enthysiasm.

"The Power of Evil," the latest B.
S. Morse feature in five reels, will be shown at the Auditorium the last half of this week. The story for this new film creation was furnished by George Bronson Howard with Margaret Nichtle, in the story role. The story ols in the starring role. The story, dealing with both society and the underworld, is interesting to the last degree. A young millionaire who be-fore coming into his great wealth has led a decidedly swift pace. His fath-er dies and he inherits a large fortune. He is shortly after married to a girl whose mother pushes them in-to the match. With the taking up of the marri state the man lives an honorable life but his wife, owing to the evil influence of her mother, becomes discontented and often leaves her husband's home for several weeks. On one of the occasions while she is away his automobile hits a girl on the street and she is badly hurt. Instead of sending her to the hospital he takes her to his home and secures the proper treatment for her. His wife returns, finds the other woman, and immediately charges him with unfaithfulness. She will accept no explanation and immediately seeks a divorce. He is about to fall into, his former habits when he is rescued by the girl he befriended and joins the Salvation Army, becoming a leading preacher, giving all his wealth to his wife and charities. In addition to Miss Nichols the cast includes Henry King as the husband and Lillian West as the other girl. The picture shows some good photography, lacks lurid sensationalism and furnishes capital tertainment.

Thursday night will be prize night

The story is a powerful one of self-sacrifice and reward and is presented on the screen in a novel way. In "Destiny's Toy" there is the strongest of screen combinations—a big story and a star of the first magnitude, and with these together you are sure of one of the greatest attractions of the greatest attractions offered thus far this season.

The Breed will also present the sixth chapter of "The Crimson Stain Mystery," which is a continuation of the most startling story ever written.

FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashione recipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble that has been used for many years with great success. Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength) and add Parmint (Double Strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils should open, air passages of your head clear up so you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn cough, or hard cold or catarrh in any form hard cold or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. Lee & Osgood can supply

And the squirreis in the trees;

To the sweet New England village,
Like no other plant on earth,
To the thoughtfut clear-eyed woman.
Her highest mark of worth,
To the brilliant high wrought children,
To the shrewd, tharp business men,
To the ancient March Town Meeting,
To the modern journal's pen.

TRUE ARE THE HEARTS. True are the hearts of those who know Days full of toil for loved ones here: They till the ground, they plant, they sow.

Their songs the while are songs of cheer.

Their feet are weary and their hands Grow rough with labor, yet they smile— Who cultivate the fertile lands That dear ones may rejoice the while.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Geraldine-I hate to think of my hirtieth birthday, Gerard—Let's not past.—Chicago Herald. "I'm sorry, my daugater, to hear you make light of marriage." "Why," it's all right to make light of a match, isn't it?"—Boston Transcript. Mrs. Dorcas-As soon as Mrs. Dores As soon as the ballot we'll reform politics.

Dores After some of the things you women peliticians have been doing it will need reforming.—Life. He-I shall never marry unless I find a woman who is my exact oppo-

She—You will never find so perfect being as that—New York Times. "How about this community sing-ng? Have the folks in your neigh-"We have it now and then at the corner barroom,"—Pittsburgh Post. Jess-Jack is so conscientious! Bess—How now?

Jess—The poor fellow can't decide which he ought to pay first—his gambling debts, or his alimony.—Judge.

Typist (newly arrived at war office)—I suppose we begin as usual?
Staff Officer—I suppose so.
Typist—Then burry up and kiss me.
I want to get on with my work. ondon Opinion. "Sir," said the beggar, "will you give a pore old blind man a shill-ing?" "But," protested the passerby, "make it

"you can see out of one eye!" "O well," rejoined the beggar. "make sixpence, then!" — Pritish Weekly. The Author—Well, how did you like my play? Didn't you think the church scene realistic?

The critic—Intensely so. Why a great many of us actually went to sleep while it was on. — Saturday Journal.

"Oh, doctor, I have sent for you, certainly; but, I must confess that I have not the slighten faith in modern medical science.

"Well," said the doctor, "that doesn't matter in the least. You see, a mule has no faith in the veterinary surgeon, and yet he cures him all the same."London Saturday Journal.
